SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

THE symptoms of of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, & is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternating with ax. The head is trombled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the liver with

THE OLD JEWS AS FARMERS.

In his laws, Moses made agriculture the basis of the state. According to this principle he apportioned to every citizen a portion of land, marked by fixed boundaries. Land grabbing speculations were prevented by the law, which required all lands in the commonwealth to revert to the heirs of the original owners on the jubilee year. The occupation of the farmer was held in honor from being thus protected by the fundamental laws of the state. None were so rich or noble as to abstain to put their hand to the plow. Various means were resorted to by the Hebrews to increase the fertility of their soil. The stones were gathered and built into walls, water was brought in acqueducts from great distances, and many kinds of manure was used. The hills were terraced with vineyards and gardens. They cultivated wheat, barley, millet, beans and perhaps rice. In agricultural instruments the Hebrews were not far behind the present age we are prone to think. Isaiah lived 700 years before Christ, yet in his day iron plows were in use, or he prophesied of the time when swords should be turned into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks. This passage shows, too, that they had instruments for pruning vines and trees.

The animals used in plowing were cattle and donkeys. Horses were not in common use among the Hebrews. The original mode of harvesting grain was to pull it up by the roots, but sickles were in use from the time of Joshua. Harvesting among them was the time of rejoicing, cheerful songs being heard in every field. Threshing being effected by flails, the feet of animals, or by drags or rollers. Vineyards and olive groves were extensively and carefully cultivated. Culinary plants and fruit trees were among the first objects of attention. Palestine was said to flow with milk and honey. Bees were highly esteemed. Their hives were made of hay mixed with straw, but stores of honey were often found in hollow trees and fissues of rocks.

One remarkable provision of the Mosaic law in regard to agriculture was the Sabbatic year. Every seventh year was a year of rest, not so much to the farmer as to the farm. Nothing was reaped, the vines were not pruned; there was no gathering of fruit. The object of this regulation seems to have been to preserve the wild beasts, to let the land recover strength, and to teach the people to be provident and to look out for the future. But the year was not spent in idleness. The people could hunt, fish, look after their bees, and flocks, repair their buildings or furniture, manufacture cloth or carry on commerce.

WATER THE BEST DRINK.

There is no axiom of health more just than that 'men never have a true appetite till they eat with relish any ordinary food.' It is told of John Bailes, who lived to the age of one hundred and twenty eight, that his food for the most part, consisted of brown bread and cheese, and his drink of water and milk. He had buried the town of Northampton twenty times over, excepting three or four, and it is said strong drink killed them all. Water manifestly is the natural beverage of all animals; whole nations, as the Mohamedans and the Hindoos, use it alone as a beverage, and unlike other drink it will not sate the appetite, but the contrary; indeed it was observed by Hypocrates, above two thousand years ago, that water drinkers have usually keen appetites. It is a fluid that requires no digestion, for it is not necessary that it should undergo any changes; it is the natural menstrum that holds in solution both what is essential for the healthy functions of the body, and what has become a refuse after serving its destined office and intention in the animal kingdom. Water, therefore, from its congenial qualities, can never much disturb the system; and when it does it is speedily expelled by its natural outlets, the skin and kidneys. It is told of Lord Healthfield, so well known for his habits of strict military discipline and watchfulness, that his food was vegetables and his drink water, never indulging himself in animal food or wine. And Sir John Sinclair, in his work on longevity, says, in his account of Mary Campbell, then aged one hundred and five, that she preferred pure water to any other drink.

LANGUAGE OF ANIMALS.

The animals have a language of their own, to one another, there can be no doubt. I know a good deal of their language myself. I know by the voice of the raven when he has discovered one of his flock dead—I know also his prelude to the storm, and to fine weather. The moor fowl call one another from hill to hill. I learned to imitate their language so closely that I could have brought scores of them within the range of my shot in the morning. The black cock has a call too, which brings all his mates around him, but the females have no call. They are a set of subordinate things, like the wives of nabobs. They dare not incubate upon the same hill with their haughty lord. But the partridge and all mountain birds have a language to each other, and though rather circumscribed, it is perfectly understood; and as Wordsworth says, 'not to be unknown.' Even the stupid and silly barndoor hen, when the falcon appears, can by a single alarm note, make all her chickens hide in a moment. Every hen tells you when she has laid her egg; and lest it should not be heard and understood, the cock exerts the whole power of his lungs in divulging the important secret. The black faced ewe, on the approach of a dog utters a whistle through her nostrils, which alarms her comrades, and immediately puts them on the lookout. Not one of them will take another bite until they discover whence the danger is approaching. If the dog be with a man sundry of them utter a bleat which I well know, but cannot describe and commence feeding again. If the dog is by himself, they are more afraid of him than any other animal, and then is heard the whistle repeated through the whole glen.

But the acuteness of the sheep's ear surpasses all things in nature that I know of. A ewe will distinguish her own lamb's bleat among a thousand, much louder than the singing of psalms at the Camaronian sacrament in the fields where thousands are congregated—and that is no joke either. Besides, the distinguishment of voice is perfectly reciprocal between the ewe and the lamb, who amid the deafening sound, run to meet one another. There are few things that have amused me more than a sheep shearing, and the sport continues the whole day. We put the flock up into the field, send out the lambs to a hill, and then send out the ewes to them as they are shorn. The moment that a lamb hears its dam's voice it rushes from the crowd to meet her but instead of finding the rough, wool clad mamma, which it left an hour or two ago, meets a poor, naked, shivering, and most deplorable creature. It wheels about, and uttering a loud tremulous bleat, of perfect despair, flies from the frightful vision. The mother's voice arrests its flight; it returns, flies and returns again generally ten or a dozen times before the reconcilement is fairly made.

TAKING THINGS WITHOUT ASKING

When I was a boy, I was playing out in the street one winter's day, catching rides on sleighs, and it was great fun. Boys would rather catch rides any day than go out regularly and properly to take a drive. As I was catching on to one sleigh and to another, sometimes having a nice time, and oftentimes getting a cut from a big black whip, I at last fastened like a barnacle to the side of a country man's cutter.

An old gentleman sat alone on the seat, and he looked at me rather benignantly, as I thought, and neither said anything to me, nor swung his old whip over me; so I ventured to climb upon the side of his cutter. Another benignant look, but not a word. Emboldied by his supposed goodness, I ventured to tumble into the cutter and a seat under the warm buffalo robe beside him, and then he spoke. The colloquy was as follows:

'Young man, do you like to ride?'

'Yes, sir.'

'It's a pretty nice cutter, isn't it?'

'Yes, sir, it is, and a nice horse drawing it.'

'Did I ask you to get in?'

'No, sir.'

'Well, then, why did you get in?'

'Well, sir, I—I thought you looked so good and kind, and that you would have no objection.'

'And so, young man, because you thought I was good and kind, you took advantage of that kindness, and took a favor without asking it?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Is that ride worth having?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Well, now, young man I want to tell you two things. You should never take a mean advantage of the kindness of others; and what is worth having, is worth at least asking for. Now as you tumbled into this sleigh without asking me, I shall tumble you out into the snow bank without asking you.'

And out I went like a shot off a shovel, and he didn't make much fuss about it either. I picked myself up in a slightly bewildered state, but I never forgot that lesson.

THE MYSTERIOUS WOMAN.

At a certain town meeting, the question came up whether any person should be licensed to sell rum. The clergyman, deacon and physician, strange as it may now appear, all favored it. One man spoke against it, because of the mischief it did. The question was about to be put, when all at once there arose from one corner of the room a miserable female. She was thinly clad, and her appearance indicated the utmost wretchedness, and that her mortal career was almost closed. After a moment of silence, and all eyes being fixed upon her, she stretched her attenuated body to its utmost hight, and then her long arms to their greatest length, and raising her voice to a shrill pitch, she called upon all to look upon her. "Yes!" she said, "look upon me and then hear me. All that the last speaker has said relative to temperate drinking, as being the father of drunkenness, is true. All practice, all experience, declares its truth. All drinking of alcoholic poison, as a beverage in health, is excess. Look upon me. You all know me, or once did. You all know I was once the mistress of the best farm in the town. You all know, too, that I had one of the best, the most devoted of husbands. You all know I had fine, noble hearted, industrious boys. Where are they now? You all know. You all know they lie in a row, side by side in yonder churchyard; all and every one of them filling a drunkard's grave! They were all taught to believe that temperate drinking was safe; excess alone ought to be avoided; and they never acknowledged excess. They quoted you, and you, and you," pointing with her shred of a finger to the priest, deacon and doctor, "as authority. They thought themselves safe under such tender teachers. But I saw a gradual change coming over my family and prospects, with dismay and horror; I felt we were all to be overwelmed in one common ruin: I tried to ward off the blow. I tried to break the spell, the delusive spell, in which the idea of the benefits of temperate drinking had involved my husband and sons; I begged, I prayed; but the odds were greatly against me.

"The priest said the poison that was destroying my husband and boys, was a good creature of God; the deacon (who sits under the pulpit there, and took our farm to pay his rum bills,) sold them the poison; the physician said a little was good, and excess ought to be avoided. My poor husband and my dear boys fell into the snare, and they could not escape, there were no Washingtonians then, and one after another was conveyed to the dishonored grave of the drunkard. Now look at me again; you probably see me for the last time; my sand has almost run. I have dragged my exhausted frame from my present abode—your poor house—to warn you all—to warn you, deacon! to warn you, false teacher of God's word!" and with her arms high flung, and her tall form stretched to its utmost, and her voice raised to an unearthly pitch, she exclaimed: 'I shall soon stand stand before the judgment seat of God; I shall meet you there, you false guides, and be a witness against you." The miserable female vanished—a dead silence pervaded the assembly—the priest, deacon and physician hung their heads—the president of the meeting put the question: shall we have any more licenses to sell alcoholic poisons, to be sold as a beverage? The response was unanimous, no!

ALCOHOL AND PHISICAL STRENGTH.

Physical strength declines in proportion to the quantity of alcohol taken, until at length a man under its influence is not able to move a muscle nor lift a feather. From the time since the Greek atheletes, who trained themselves for the Olympic games, abstained from, across two thousand years to the present, the experience of men who have been called to exert themselves physically, has been, that liquors are an injury, and reduce the maximum power of the body.

Mr. Buckingham, an Oriental traveller, saw a race of men who lived upon the Hymalaya mountains, that had never tasted a drop of alcohol. He testifies that they were the finest men he ever saw, and in feats of strength could far surpass the best men among the British soldiers and sailors at Calcutta. If the rum suckers of New York city, who tent in underground cellars, pale, bowed and trembling because of long years debauch, would come out of their filthy apartments and seek some Himilaya of prohibition, breathe pure mountain air for a few years, and return to their homes, they would not be recognized by their kindred, so great would be the physical transformation resulting from the change. What would become of such bloated, gouty, beer guzzlers as stagger through our streets in the hands of those Himalaya atheletes? They would toss them upon one finger into the Indian ocean, and bury them for ever under its waves.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

Great men direct the events of their time; wise men take advantage of them; weak men are borne down by them. Where one thousand are destroyed by the world's frowns, ten thousand are destroyed by its smiles.

He who is impatient to become his own master often becomes when the outward checks are removed, merely his own slave.

The firmest friendships have been formed in mutual adversity, as iron is most strongly united by the fiercest flame.

Whining lightens no burdens, lessens no cares and gains no sympathy. Therefore be cheery, be brave, trust in God, do good and rejoice evermore.

The way to be accounted learned is not to know everything, but to be able to marshal up what you do know, be it much or little, and tell it, if occasion requires.

It is much easier to ruin a man of principle than a man of none, for he may be ruined through his scruples. Knavery is supple, and can bend; but honesty is firm and upright, and yields not.

Men's lives should be like the days; more beautiful in the evening; or like the seasons, aglow with promise; and like the autumn, rich with golden sheaves, where good words and deeds have ripened on the field.

HORSE POWER.

The term of "horse power" is a unit of force, introduced by Watt to enable him to determine what size of engine to send to his customers to supersede the number of horses which the new power, steam, was to replace. Watt, in order to determine this, visited one of the London breweries whose horses were renowned for their strength, and ascertained that the average force exerted by the strongest horse was to raise 33,000 lbs one foot high in a minute. Watt had two methods of comparing his engines—viz, by the power and by the duty. By the power is meant the quantity of work which an engine can effect in a given time; by the duty is meant the quantity of work which it can effect by a given expenditure of fuel. Now, it is evident that without any change in the size of an engine, its power can be increased simply by increasing the pressure of steam—that is, the load remaining constant, the speed of the piston may be increased, the number of strokes may be increased, and consequently, the work done per minute will be larger. Hence, it is difficult to supply a limit to the power obtainable from the smallest cylinder, provided the boiler be large enough to evaporate the increased quantity of water, and strong enough to resist the increased bursting pressure. In fact, no size cylinder can be reckoned as having a particular power, since the power depends not on size as much as strength, and thus engines rated as 60 horse power can often be run at much greater power.

Nevertheless, in modern engineering the term 'horse power' refers rather to the size of the cylinder than to the power exerted, and the value of the unit has undergone many changes, so that in an engine to day, a horse power may imply 25,000 lbs, or 66,000 lbs, one foot higher per minute. The plan now adopted for ascertaining the performances of different engines is by an instrument called the indicator. This consists of a small cylinder fitted with a piston, which is pressed down by a spring. By the height to which this spring, the steam pressure within the cylinder of the engine is indicated; and the number of pounds pressure on the square inch multiplied into the number of square inches in the area of the cylinder, and by the number of feet traveled through by the piston per minute, gives the impelling power; deduct in large engines about one tenth for friction, and the remainder is the efficient moving power, which divided by 33,000 gives the actual horse power.

A HEALTHY INDIVIDUAL.

The following is the last thing written by the late "Artemus Ward:"

"Until quite recent I've ben a healthy individooal. I'm nearly sixty and yet I've got a muskle into my arms which don't make my fists resemble the tread of a cannary bird when they fly out and hit a man. Only a few weeks ago I was exhibiting in East Skowhegan, in a buildin' which had formly bin okepied by a pugylist—one of the fellers which strike from the sholder and teaches the manly art of self defens. And he cum and said he was a goin' in free, in consequence of previously occupyin' said buildin' with a large yaller dog. "To be sure, sir, but not with that yaller dog." He said, 'Oh, yes.' I sed, 'Oh, no.' He sed, 'Do you want to be ground to powder?' I sed, 'Yes, I do, if there is a powder grindist handy.' When he struck me a disgustin' blow in my left eye, which closed that concern to at once close for repairs; but he didn't hurt me any more. I went for him. I went for him energet'cally. His parents lived near by, and I will simply state that fifteen minutes after I'd gone for him his mother seeing the prostrate form of her son approachin' the house onto a shutter carried by four men, ran out doors, keerfully called him over and sed, 'My son, you've been fooling with a thrashing masheen. You went in at the end where they put the grain in, and come out with the straw, and then got in the thingumajig and let the horses tred on you; didn't you my son?' You can imagine by this what a disagreeable person I am when I'm angry."

In the quaint old town of Burlington, New Jersey, lived a colored divine, who was known among his ebony countrymen by the euphonious cognomen of Brudder Jacksing. Some years ago the above mentioned brudder was preaching to his deluded brethrin, when, all of a sudden, getting very much excited, and picking up the elegant new Bible, which reposed before him on that sacred altar for the first Sunday, held it poised in mid-air for a moment, when down it came like a thunderbolt to its former resting place. This was noticed instanter by one of de deluded, who thinking, perhaps, the whole of the proceeding totally wrong, immediately exclaimed, loud enough to be heard all over the room: 'Brudder Jacksing, if yer wants to try dat speriment ober again, why just please take de ole Bible.

A negro woman was relating her experience to a congregation of color, and among other things she said she had been in heaven. One of the ladies asked her: "Sister, did you see any blacks in heaven?" "Oh, git out! You s'pose I go in de kitchen when I was dar?"

COULDN'T UNDERSTAND IT.

The Hartford Courant says; During the Grand Duke Alexis' walks through the Bridgeport cartridge factory the other day, he pointed to several workmen and inquired of Governor Jewell, "Are these men what you call the common people?" The governor replied that they were a fair specimen of the working classes in this country. "Do you mean to say that these get into official position?" further inquired the imperial scion. 'Perhaps not any of these men,' replied governor Jewell; 'but men of their class do; they are educated men, most of them—that is, they can all probably read and write, and most of them take, and read the newspapers." "Do you know of any cases where such men have actually been elected to office?" again queried the curious Alexis. "O, certainly," the governor said; "I, myself, worked in the shop as a tanner till I was twenty years of age;" and the announcement seemed to puzzle the Duke a good deal. Here was the governor of a state, as well dressed and appearing as himself, who had actually worked in a shop, and this man was welcoming him in behalf of a hundred thousand voters; it was more of an enigma than the boy had ciphered on previously; but as he goes through the country he will ascertain, upon inquiring, that very many of the public men here have come direct from the workshop. In Massachusetts, where he is now visiting, Governor Claffin was a shoemaker, senator Wilson was a cobbler also, and general Banks was a machinist.

As Artemus Ward was once traveling in the cars dreading to be bored and feeling miserable, a man approached him, sat down and said:

'Did you hear the last thing on Horace Greeley?'

'Greeley? Greeley,' said Artemus 'Horace Greeley? Who is he?'

The man was quiet about five minutes. Pretty soon he said:

'George Francis Train is kicking up a good deal of a row over in England; do you think they will put him in a bastile?'

'Train, Train, George Francis Train,' said Artemus solemnly, 'I never heard of him.'

This ignorance kept the man quiet for fifteen minutes; then he said:

'What do think about general Grant for the next president? Do you think they will run him?'

'Grant, Grant! hang it man,' said Artemus, 'you know more strangers than any man I ever saw.'

The man was furious; he walked up the car, but at least come back and said:

'You confounded ignoramus, did you ever hear of Adam?'

Artemus looked up said:

'What was his other name?'

When the subject of penny postal cards was before congress at the last session, the bill adopting the system, in accordance with the recommendations of the postmaster general, was defeated on account of the many objections which existed to the system as publicly, about which some troublesome cases have arisen in England. General Garfield was the principal opponent last session, and really defeated the proposition with the clearness of his objections. Since then inventors have come forward and have obviated the objections so far as publicity is concerned, by several ingenius methods of sealing, so that the previous simplicity is retained, as well as the secrecy of the contents assured. Gen Garfield and many others are converts to the system now, and it is not at all improbable that the bill now before the House will pass. Mr. Creswell is strongly in its favor, and is throwing his whole personal influence in its behalf.

A bill recently been introduced in congress to incorporate a company, the objects of which are to develope and utilize the principles and power of natural electricity, so as to apply that fluid to telegraphing and generating light and heat motion. From certain theories which have recently been advanced, and from experiments that have been tried, the possibility is asserted of telegraphing without the use of cables, conducting wires of any description, or even batteries. The projector is said to be very sanguine of success, but the theory would seem to be exceedingly visionary.

Here is a Missouri paper's notion of the high calling of journalism: "We are compelled to make this week's issue almost exclusively a local and advertisement paper; but look out for next week's. It will be one of the gayest, fiercest, hottest papers that ever went forth from an American news raggery.

The manager of the Queen's Theatre, London, has made a hit in pleasing his patrons. The movement consists in allowing his audience to decide by vote what play shall be acted. Ballot boxes are placed in different parts of the house, and voting slips are attached to the programmes. The audience are requested to detach and place in the boxes their respective votes, and the result is subsequently made public, and the will of the majority complied with.

A lad arrested for theft, when taken before the magistrate and asked what his occupation was, frankly answered, "Stealing." "Your candor astonishes me!" said the judge. "I thought it would," replied the lad, 'seeing how many big 'uns there is in the business and are ashamed to own it.'

A lady had a favorite lap dog which she called Perchance.

"A singular name for a pet madam," said somebody. 'Where did you find it?'

'Oh, it was named from Byron's dog. You remember where he says, 'Perchance my dog will bark.'"

The Independent.

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, January 10.

The presiding officer of the Ohio state senate in appointing standing committees placed Mr. Wales on the following: Agriculture, common schools, (chairman), mines and mining, public works and turnpikes, which are among the important in that body Mr. W's legislative experience has been brief, but his abilities are appreciated.

On last Thursday evening the republican members of the legislature held a meeting, or caucus, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the U. S. senate. The proceedings were brief and to the point. Several names were proposed, and out of some 76 votes present Mr. Sherman recieved 72, which was so nearly unanimous, that it was concluded to vote for him when the time arrives for election. Tuesday the 9th, which was yesterday, was the time for election.

On Friday evening the democrats held a caucus, but nobody excepting true blues was admitted. They made no choice, and adjourned to Monday evening.

In Louisiana they have a terrible political fuss. The governor (Warmouth) and his party are arrayed against some of the national office holders and their party, and all are acting foolishly to say the least. A report says the president is opposed to this intermeddling by his appointees with Louisiana matters.

Last Saturday a man named Stokes shot James Fisk, Jr, a somewhat distinguished railroad man, reckless speculator, unscrupulous in morals, and one of the wealthiest men in the country. Fisk died at 11 o'clock at night. Stokes and a bad woman were interested in a lawsuit against Fisk, and there is where the murder originated. Stokes is in jail, and will probably be hung.

Mr. Wales, our state senator, we regret to state, was quite unwell in consequence of a bilious attack on Monday, which precluded the probability of his attending the election for senator on yesterday, though his physicians thought he might be able to do so.

The speaker of the house in arranging the standing committees, places Mr. Bowman as chairman on mining; he also has places on revision and public works—all important positions.

Monday the inauguration of governor Noyes and that of lieutenant governor Mueller took place amid enthusiasm.

The postmaster general recommends that postage be reduced to two instead of three cents. Good.

The democrats finally nominated G W Morgan as their candidate for U. S. senator.

Mr. Way, the wayward man of Alliance, has at last been caught by the sheriff, who conveyed him to Ravenna jail for safe keeping.

The New York Herald gives the fullest account of the Fisk murder that we have seen, appropriating more than a dozen columns to all the particulars. It was a tragedy that has roused the sensibilities of the nation. Fisk was a bold, fast man, came to a fast death at the hands of another fast man, who will also come to a fast death on the gallows—all instigated by a fast woman.

It is not unusual now a-days for many of the newspapers and magazines to offer premiums in order to induce people to procure subscribers. The New Jersey Mechanic repudiates the practice, and decides that it exerts an evil tendency. It may suit some papers to pay people for canvassing for subscribers, but the practice is not adapted to all cases. The premium we have to offer for two dollars a year is a weekly copy of the INDEPENDENT, filled with what seems to be the best material we can gather, and especially in local affairs. A country paper once a week is of little value as a miscellaneous, political, religious, or even a general news medium, though it should not overlook what is going on in the world. Remember, our premium is fifty two numbers of the Independent, one year, for $2.

I. O. O. F.—At the installation of the German Lodge officials on last Wednesday evening, in this place, a number of the brethren from Canton paid them a visit. When the business was over, one of the Canton brethren drew forth a beautifully bound and printed German Bible, and with appropriate remarks presented the same to Massillon Lodge. Hon. J. W. Underhill, who was present, also made some suitable remarks. Such tokens of friendship are significant—they mean that there is a fraternity of feeling in this brotherhood which reaches in ation. The following named persons were instated as officers for the current term: L Sulkee, N G; F Beck, V G; C Hahn, R S; F Breckel, P S; F Loeffler, T.

Brick Pomeroy says he has a big exchange, but complains that a large number of the country papers with which he exchanges are destitute of local news, and that is what he seeks in them. For this reason he will cut off a great lot of them. Now Brick's is one of the most readable of papers, no matter whether the reader coincides with what is said, or not, its style is so hearty and vigorous that it will almost captivate a political opponent into perusing what an earnest man has to say. But it is true, as he intimates, that there are papers which nobody can afford to foot away time in reading, as their contents are poor, spiritless, and very meager of ideas. If the appreciative and intelligent man or woman would get a paper, which can be read all over, and in all its lines, paragraphs columns and articles find gems of thought well expressed, none can excel the Golden Age, (though some may equal it) in these respects. Mr. Tilton has the rare faculty of saying things so well, that let him discuss the most common place subject, and he invests it with an interest of which few would dream. In the Age of the 30th ult., the editor publishes an article under the caption—household gods, in which are suggestions appropriate to the season. Some exchanges raise a hue and a cry against Mr. T. on this account, and try to make believe that he is a heathen, or a teacher of idolatry, but they are very clear of giving a hint of the nature of an article which they so fiercely condemn. In referring to the old Roman household gods, called lares and penates, he asks, must they be destroyed forever? And what are the names of these divinities this writer would set up? Here they are—Love, Peace, Patience, Hope, Forgiveness, Justice, Faith. Now if any body is so bigotedly orthodox that he can smell brimstone, and see horns and hoofs of old cleoue in these virtues he must be keen of scent and sharp of vision. It is possible that Mr T. may make mistakes, but for that reason he need not be denounced as the incarnation of all that is vile—take the good he contends for, and let his errors be well denounced, after they are proven to be such. But concerning the papers, and books too, which have nothing in, or so near it as to be worthless, they will soon be among the forgotten things of earth; for nothing less than ideas can live in these days, whether expressed in homely style, or clothed with all the gorgeousness of diction that our language can command. In using words let us not lose sight of ideas.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The retiring message of governor Hayes is a brief and unpretentious document The State finances, he says, are in a satisfactory condition. The receipts of the last year were $5,241,184 91; the disbursements, $5,259,046 75; the balance in the treasury November 15, 1871, $764,176 27. The estimated balance for November 15, 1872, is $430,330 54. During the year the debt has been reduced $729,415, leaving a total debt of $9,000,729 36 The taxes collected in 1871 amount to $24,130,620 61; those to be collected in 1872 to $23 587,664 24. This decrease is noticed and favorably commented on. On the other hand, the increase of local indebtedness is remarked, and the conviction is expressed that the remedy lies in the prohibition of public debts except in cases analagous to those provided for in article Six of the Constitution.

State war claims have been collected during the year to the amount of $145,304,60 making the total of such claims collected $2 826,247 94. It is thought $100.096 more can be collected without additional legislation, leaving $400,000 unpaid. It is recommended that the statutes providing for the allowance of claims against the state by the commissioners of military claims be repealed.

Attention is directed to the public school system, and the need in the first place of normal instruction, and in the second place of the management of schools by means of township boards and sub district directors.

The Governor notices the fact that in several counties colored children are practically deprived of public school instruction, and the hope is expressed that this wrong will be remedied.

The benevolent institutions of the state are all prosperous and in good working condition.

The recommendation already made that suitable monuments be provided for the graves of president Harrison and Gen Hamer, is renewed.

The suggestion is made that the state purchase a governor's residence in Columbus.

Special attention is called to the subject of railroads, the abuses o rights, and the "palpable violations of law" that have arisen under the great corporations, and it is recommended that a commission of five citizens, of whom the railroad commissioner shall be one, be organized, with ample powers to investigate the management of the railroad companies of the state, their legal rights, and the rights of the state and its citizens, and to report the information acquired, with a recommendation of such measures as the commission shall deem expedient.—Prohibition Era.

Within the last six months our postmaster has sold $3,000 stamps. That looks like business.

To say the least it is not in good taste to be too troublesome in asking favors, yet we are instructed to ask and we shall receive. Many of our people have for years asked for gas on the streets, and it is coming,—though not exactly in sight yet, it soon will be. But gas is not the end of this asking. What many of our people here want, and more particularly what every visitor of the place sorely needs, are two comparatively little but indispensable improvements—and these are the names of streets placed conspicuously on the corners, and the houses numbered. Everybody sees the positive necessity of these improvements, and all more or less realize it. Every day manifestly increases the need of these conveniences, and as the city grows yearly it is but the more imperative that we should have them. It would be considerable of an undertaking to accomplish both these measures at once, and for that reason a commencement might be made by attending to one at a time. The first in order would be putting up the names of streets at proper places—for the way it now is, as has often been remarked even the oldest inhabitant, the most intelligent or most observing knows the names of half the streets in town. Those who have maps probably can make them out, but it is inconvenient to carry maps or guide boards about with us, so let us have the streets named and numbered before another presidential election. We claim some 6000 people in Massillon, and these with other thousands of visitors will comprise about 10,000 reasons in favor of the measures here suggested, while the reasons to the contrary amount to 000.

Mr. F. Warthorst, sr., has dissolved his connection with the firm of Warthorst, Suter & Co., in the block stone trade, and the business will hereafter be carried on by James Suter and H. H. Everhard.

A reunion of the 19th O. V. I., which took place at Canton on the 2d inst. is reported by the papers of that place as having been a most satisfactory and gratifying gathering of the veterans, who were among the very first to respond to their country's call for troops in 1861. An unexpectedly large number, (some 200) participated in the greeting and renewals of friendship, and they had a right good time—were cordially welcomed and agreeably entertained by the hospitality of our Canton neighbors. Hon. Mr. Martin delivered an appropriate welcoming address, which was responded to by Col. Nash. The Rep & Rep. gives the names of those in attendance, the names of officers of the regiment and many other interesting particulars. There was no Capt Beamy of New Lisbon—Capt. U. Bean was the name of that brave man, who fell at the bloody conflict at Murfreesboro. He was also a soldier in the Mexican war.

Massillon has no debating society—many other places have, and this is one of the distinguishing traits between it and other places: Those localities having such institutions may not have much to boast of, in the estimation of many, but a city without such organization is badly off. Several efforts have been made to organize and keep up debating clubs here, but they were all short lived, so death soon came to their relief. Some two or three years ago, however a pretty fair start was made, but it seemed only as a transient flash. While it did live it was lively, and not a few of its members will forget with what energy and earnestness the question of the Bible in schools was was discussed. That debate was never finished, and some of the survivers are anxious and willing to have another hearing on the subject. If those who favored the use of the Bible in schools will agree on a time and place to further consider the question, we are authorized to say that the negative is quite willing to participate in such examination. Can't we have it?

Wm. K. Miller, who has for several years been in partnership with the Russell Bros., dissolved his connection with the firm, by limitation, on the first inst. At the same time Mr. Alanson R. Rixson entered into partnership with the Russell Bros, who will continue the business of manufacturing agricultural implements, cars, &c. The enterprise and usefulness of this establishment are too well known to need long notice here. For some thirty years it has grown from a comparatively small, and keen beginning, gradually but surely, to a magnitude that but few similar institutions in the country can equal and still fewer excel, so that it has attained a reputation not circumscribed to our own country, but is practically known in another hemisphere than our own.

The Salem papers give some account of a serious accident which occurred to Dr. Abel Cary, of that place one day last week. He was thrown from his carriage, the horse becoming unmanageable, one of his legs caught in the shaft or swingletree, and was thus dragged some distance; a leg was broken, and other injuries sustained. The wounds are not dangerous as first reported, and the patient is getting along favorably. Dr. C. is an experienced physician and surgeon, having the advantage of some forty years practice, has led an active life in his profession, and has a deservedly high reputation for skill. His fame is by no means limited to his vicinity, or even the county in which he lives.

Friends of the new railroad project, to connect Cleveland with Akron, Canton, and thence south into Carroll, Tuscarawas, and Harrison counties, held a spirited meeting at Akron on last Friday. They seem to be sanguine of success.

A National Catholic Temperance convention is to be held at Baltimore on Thursday the 22d of February next, for the purpose of forming a national Catholic union. State unions are already formed in six states, and are now forming in three others, namely, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Minnesota. The following propositions will be submitted to the convention at Baltimore: First, to promote the establishment of State Unions in states where none exist; second, to aid pastors o communities in organizing Catholic Total Abstinence Societies wherever desired; third, to secure an interchange of transfers between societies in all parts of the country. This is a good movement and cannot fail to result beneficially in restraining the vice of intemperance so prevalent among our Catholic immigrant population.

New Philadelphia, Jan 8.—A man, whose name is unknown to me was stabbed at lock seventeen on Saturday evening, by Godfrey Heck, and died in a short time. After some disputing in a saloon, the man followed Heck out, when the latter attacked him with this terrible and fatal result.

Notwithstanding that Mr Colfax has announced himself as no candidate for the vice presidency, Boutwell's friends are going to bring him forward as a candidate, and are working to that end.

The legislature met Monday, both houses organized. Hall, republican, elected clerk of senate. Mr. Wales favored us with the governor's brief message. Other items crowded out.

ONE MILLION OF LIVES

SAVED!

It is one of the remarkable facts of this remarkable age, not merely that so many persons are victims of dyspepia or indigestion, but its willing victims. Now we would not be understood to say that any one regards dyspepsia with favor, or feels disposed to rank it among the luxuries of life. Far from it. Those who have experienced its torments would scout such an idea. All dread it, and would gladly dispense with its unpleasant familiarities. There are diseases more acute and painful, and which more frequently prove fatal; but none, the effects of which are more distressing to the body. If there is a wretched being in the world it is

A CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC.

But it not our intention to discant on the horrors of dyspepsia. To describe them truthfully is simply an impossibility. We have said that dyspepsia is perhaps the most universal of human diseases. This is emphatically the case in the United States. Whether this general prevalence is due to the character of the food, the method of its preparation, or the hasty manner in which it is usually swallowed, is not our province to explain. The great fact with which we are called to deal is this :

DYSPEPSIA PREVAILS

almost universally.

Nearly every other person you meet is a victim, an apparently willing one; for were this not the case, why so many sufferers, when a certain, speedy and safe remedy is within the reach of all who desire to avail themselves of it? But says a dyspeptic, What is this remedy? to which we reply, This great alleviator of human suffering is almost as widely known as the English language. This acknowledged panacea is none other than

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Would you know more of the merits of this wonderful medicine than can be learned from the experience of others? Try it yourself, and when it has failed to fulfill the assurance of its efficacy given by the proprietor, then abandon faith in it.

LET IT BE REMEMBERED

first of all, that Hoofland's German Bitters is not a rum beverage.

They are not alcoholic in any sense of the term. They are composed entirely of the pure juice or vital principle of roots. The extracts from which they are compounded are prepared by one of the ablest German chemists. The objections which hold with so much force against preparations of this class, namely—that a desire for intoxicating drinks is stimulated by their use, are not valid in case of the German Bitters. Their effects can be in all cases of the biliary system. Hoofland's German Bitters stand without an equal, acting promptly and vigorously on the liver; they remove its torpidity and cause healthful secretion of the bile; they impart vigor and strength to the entire system, causing the patient to feel like another being—in fact, giving him a new lease of life.

THEY PURIFY THE BLOOD,

cleansing the vital fluid of all hurtful impurities and supplanting them with the elements of genuine healthfulness. In a word, there is scarcely a disease in which they cannot be safely and beneficially employed; but in the generally prevalent distressing and dreaded disease Dyspepsia,

THEY STAND UNRIVALED.

Now, there are certain classes of persons to whom extreme bitters are not only unpalatable, but who find it impossible to take them without positive discomfort. For such has been prepared. It is intended for use where a slight alcoholic stimulant is required. This tonic contains all the ingredients of the bitters, but so flavored as to remove the extreme bitterness.

HOOFLAND'S TONIC

acts with almost marvelous effect. It not only stimulates the flagging and wasting energies, but invigorates and permanently strengthens its action upon the liver and stomach thorough, perhaps less prompt than the Bitters, when the same quality is taken is none the less certain. Indigestion, biliousness; physical or nervous prostration, yield readily to its potent influence. It gives strength to weakness, throws despondency to the winds, and starts the restored invalid upon a new and gladsome career But Dr. Hoofflands benefactions to the human race are not confined to his celebrated or his invaluable Tonic. He has prepared another medicine, which is rapidly winning its way to popular favor because of its intrinsic merits. This is a perfect substitute for mercury, without any of mercury's evil qualities.

These wonderful pills which are intended to act upon the liver, are mainly composed of Podophyllin, or the VITAL PRINCIPLE OF MANDRAKE ROOT.

Now we desire the reader to distinctly understand that this extract of the Mandrake is many times more powerful than the Mandrake itself. It is the medical virtues of this health giving plant in a perfectly pure and highly concentrated form. Hence it is that two of the Podophyllin pills constitute a full dose, while anywhere six to eight or a handful of other preperations of the Mandrake are required. The Podophyllin stimulating its functions and causing it to make its biliary secretions in regular and proper quantities. The injurious results which invariably follow the use of mercury is entirely avoided by their use.

Possessing desirable qualities, the Podophyllin becomes invaluable as a

FAMILY MEDICINE

No household shou'd be without them. They are perfectly safe, require but two for an ordinary dose are prompt and efficient in action, and when used in connection with Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, or Tonic, may be regarded as certain specifics in all cases of liver complaint dysprpsia, or any of the disorders to which the system is ordinarily subject. The act upon the stomach and bowels, carrying off improper obstructions, while the Bitters or Tonic purify the blood.

DR. HOOFLAND'S GREEK OIL.

Cures rheumatism, neuralgia toothache chilblains, sprains, burns, pain in the back, and loins, by external application.

Taken internally cures, heart burn, kidney diseases, sick headaches, colic, dysentary, cramps, cold and asthma &c. Sent by express to any locality upon application to the principal office, at the German Medicine store, No 651 Arch street, Philadelphia.

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to horses or cattle, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co. Druggists and Gen. Ag'ts, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce St, N.Y.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink. Made of Poor Rum Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the Blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erisipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

Will all those who Suffer from Consumption or Cough

Please read the following letter from a reliable druggist?

Mt Vernon, Ill., April 29, 1871.

Messrs. J N Harris & Cincinnati, O.

Gentlemen—I heard one of my customers such high terms of Allen's Lung Balsam the other day, that I thought I would write to inquire into the merits of his statement. He says her, who is now sixty years of age, suffered with consumption for several years, and has been under the care of all our best physicians, but never received any permanent benefit, then she resorted to almost every kind of cough and lung balsam that could be procured for her, but all of no avail. She still grew worse, until she was confined to her bed; and when she was seized with a paroxysm of coughing she would lose the power of respiration, and they were compelled to resort to various means to restore breathing; and while she coughed so hard she could not expectorate anything, and the family and friends had given up all hopes of her recovery. Her son noticed the advertisement of Allen's Lung Balsam in the Christian Advocate, and they thought they would procure and try it. They commenced giving her the balsam at 5 p m., as directed, a dose every hour until midnight; then she took another spell of coughing, and expectorated a mouthful of dark yellow matter, which was something she had not been able to do for some time. They continued to give her the balsam until morning, and then she began to expectorate freely, and within three hours she had expectorated three pints of mucus matter, which gave her immediate relief, and since that time she has continued to improve. She now sits up all day, and can walk about the house and take considerable out-door exercise He son bought more of the balsam to-day, and he is recommending it very highly to every one. Your, respectfully,

A C JOHNSON, Druggist.

Was there ever greater proof of merit than the case this letter refers to?

Allen's Lung Balsam is without doubt the best expectorant remedy ever offered to the afflicted public. It contains no opium in any form, and its use is harmless to the most delicate. ☞ Directions accompany each bottle. J N HARRIS & Co Proprietors. Cincinnati, O.

OLIVE LOGAN

WILL BE AT MASSILLON

Friday Evening, Jan. 19.

and deliver a Lecture on the NICE YOUNG MAN.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will hold their dime society at the residence of Mrs J. G. Warwick on Friday evening Jan. 12th. MRS. J. G. WARWICK, Sec.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a pound party at the residence of R. H. Folger, Esq., on Thursday evening, Jan. 11th. During the course of the evening the different pounds will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. The kaleidescope will form one of the special attractions of the evening. New and varied sights may be seen therein. All are cordially invited to be present.

It is expected that Mr. J. H. Temple will speak on the subject of Liberal Christianity, at 2 o'clock and 7 o'clock, p. m. in Richheimer's Hall, on next Sunday the 14th inst. His previous visit here and especially his views on matters of religious beliefs, duties and obligations, has created an interest in the minds of some to hear further from him, and now is an opportunity to do so. The questions he discusses are regarded as of the greatest importance, as they involve the welfare and prosperity of every one, whatever his faith in morals, theology, or even in practical every day life. All are invited to come and hear, as the meeting is free. Everybody knows where the hall is—corner of Main and Mill streets, third story—entrance, Main street.

Further notice hereafter.

On slight examination it has been found, as a general thing, that our business men here are in a healthy condition. True, some of them complain of money being tight, but almost everybody is prepared to settle up—at least that is the result of our observation on this point. It may be otherwise with different classes of business.

On Monday about noon a snow storm set in from the east, but as it fell on frozen ground there is little probability of its remaining long—as that seems to be a statutory provision: a snow falling on solid bottom is soon missed.

A deeply interested audience at Good Templar's Hall was highly pleased with the plain, practical and very appropriate temperance lecture, by Rev. Mr. Dean, rector of St. Timothy's church, of this place, on last Thursday evening. Every one who heard it heartily responds to the thoroughly correct positions of the speaker, and all present as well as many others will be glad to hear further from Mr. Dean on that subject, for he is an earnest and faithful exponent of the principles of total abstinence, being familiar with much of the statistics connected with the temperance question. It is proposed to hold another meeting, in the same hall, on Thursday evening the 18th inst., to which all are cordially invited. The name of the speaker will be announced in due time.

In moving a canal boat last Monday, by some mishap the fine pair of horses, property of McCue & Jacobs, were thrown into the canal. No serious injury followed that we hear of, but it was a cold bath for the horses. It is not probable that they asked for lager or any other kind of liquor to prevent catching cold. Humane treatment is all they need.

This is the week for religious services, and our churches will be occupied daily with the prescribed routine of duties which is laid down by the Evangelical Alliance

The local of the Carroll Chronicle complains that the boys of that town hollered all night before new years, and kept everybody awake. Bad boys—perhaps they have holler heads.

A great many papers are publishing specifics for small-pox, and there are queer cures prescribed; and nearly all clamor for vaccination. Much like it used to be in ague and cholera times. Every body had cures for these dread visitors—roots, yarbs, pills, powders, drinks—in short, everything that was repulsive and nauseating to a well person. In the matter of small-pox if people will live right, not gormandize too much strong food, and guzzle all sorts of drunk making slops, take the prophet's advice to Naaman, that is use plenty of Massillon soap and water, they may live in less dread of the small-poll. As to vaccination doctors differ about that—some regarding it a preventive, and others looking on it as a humbug.

Prof. J. E. Dennis, a gentleman who for twelve years lived in Jerusalem, greatly interested his hearers on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, at Disciples church, in giving much information as to that portion of Palestine, the manners and custom of the people now resident there, their religious condition, and many other matters intimately connected in these details. His discriptions of quite a number of localities in and around Jerusalem, the names of which are more or less familiar to all scripture readers, added to the attractions of his lectures. A part of the world so celebrated as Palestine for its long historic record, its prosperities and adversities, its once magnicent wealth, and its present poverty, are themes calculated to enlist the attention of the most indifferent observer. But particularly is it of interest to the Christian world, as in that portion of the earth are associated all the early experiences of the founder of Christianity and his immediate followers. Mr. D. was especially instructive in imparting information, so far as he had it, on points connected with the remarkable scenes recorded in the New Testament, as connected with Christ and his apostles. His description of the Turks or Moslems, who now have control of Palestine, is not attractive to our ideas of human goodness or perfection. He regards them as a set of graceless scamps, ready to cheat, lie, defraud, and slay a Christian with the most perfect impunity. In many of the traits of these followers of the prophet, according to the speaker's account, they are about as full of human nature as the most rascally people of our own country. But repulsive as are many of the characteristics of these fanatical Turks, they are not without some redeeming traits, at least according to what others say of them who have been among them. There are so many matters to narrate, however, that it was not possible for the speaker to specify all of them in these lectures. His testimony as to the condition of society there presents Jerusalem, at this time, in a very unpleasant aspect. A great variety of sects abound there, and according to Mr. D they are all equally clannish—somewhat Ishmalitish toward each other—won't associate together, and this practice is followed, as we understand him to say, by professing Christians, as well as by Moslems, Buddhists and other religions. So they are all imbued with the frailties of human nature about alike. Fourteen different languages are spoken in Jerusalem. As a general thing the place is in a very delapidated condition.

Our neighbors of the Canton Rep & Rep very properly boast of the handsome calendar for 1872, which they publish in an extra; and the greatest peculiarity in their notice of it is, that the document is printed on BLUE TYPE. Now we have metal and wood type, but no blue material in that way that we know of. Blue ink, perhaps, instead of blue types would sound rather better—at least be more clearly understood.

Newspaper changes and improvements have been going on in this neighborhood somewhat lively of late. Bro. Converse, of the Geauga Democrat has changed the name of his excellent paper to that of Geauga Republican. He thinks the word democrat has got into bad repute these latter days, and so it has, but the principle is good as ever.

The Summit County Beacon, one of the best and largest papers in this vicinity, has somewhat changed proprietorship, from the hands of Lane, Canfield & Co. to the Akron Publishing Company. It is as vigorous and able a defender of republican principles as ever, and both its daily and weekly issues are prospering.

That vigorous paper, the Mahoning Register, formerly published by Hull & Hudson, has changed ownership by Mr. Hudson retiring and Mr. Hull continuing the paper. The Register demonstrates that a great deal of labor is bestowed in its make up, and this labor is wisely and ably directed. The paper is a credit to the rapidly growing city in which it is located.

In six lines Mr. C. C. Baker modestly introduces himself as a partner with J. R Vernon in publishing the Salem Journal. The Journal has just been enlarged to an eight page paper, appears in new type, and is printed on a power press. It makes a very respectable appearance, and is evidence of the enterprise of the proprietors. Many years ago John Rogers gave a bit of practical advice in these words: "Build not your house too high." We would not be intrusive in applying this advice to anybody, but merely suggest to our brethren of the press—Make not your papers too big.

Our neighbors of the Holmes County Republican have dressed up their paper in new type, and for one of its politics to do that in such a democratic county as Holmes, makes it look as if some good thing will come out of Nazareth yet. Things must be working favorably for our neighbors.

An agent for selling Haynes & Knowlton's potato planter and digger, T. Blair Moore, is now at the Zielley House, prepared to sell county rights. The machine is not an expensive one, simple in construction, and apparently easy of operation. It would be well for farmers and others interested to examine this new implement.

Ice on the canal has become so thin as not to be skatable, and last Sunday an ice boat, drawn by two stout horses was engaged in plowing through it, so as to render the canal navigable by boats.

Mr. J. S. Lookwood, who has been elsewhere in business about a year, has returned to Massillon, and again opened out in the same room he previously occupied, in the Opera house, with a good stock of groceries on hand. Being an old and well known citizen here, Mr. L. will secure a fair patronage.

Drs. Oldshue of Pittsburgh, whose medical notices a large number of papers publish frequently, and which have often appeared in these columns, seem to be doing a handsome business in their profession, and the reason of this is because of their liberal advertising. They know it pays—and we can certify that they are prompt in meeting their advertising bills, whenever called upon. A great many bogus medical professors fail, because they have no merit, and can't pay their bills.

To F. R. Myers, the popular, well known general ticket agent for several railroads, are we indebted for quarterly passes on the P. F. W. & C. and the P & C roads.

Mr. Joe Bahney has the agency for the Wakefield Earth Closet, a comparatively new and most useful piece of furniture, which can be used wherever needed without annoyance or detriment in any respect. High authority says that the substitutes for these commodes, so much in use all over the country, are an abomination, while these new arrangements are recommended by the best medical and political writers in the land. They cost but a comparative trifle, which depends upon the style in which they are prepared, and dry coal ashes, sifted, is very good material to use with them. They immediately dispel all offensive odor.

Mr. John H. Miller, a sober, industrious and quiet working man, having been thrown out of employment by a serious accident a few weeks ago, wishes us to say that he is now ready and willing to perform any kind respectable, manual labor, by the day, week or month, as may be agreed upon.

Another new paper in Columbiana county has just come forth in the shape of the Lectonia Reporter, by W. H. Watson and D. C. Steen, both experienced, practical printers. The boys get up a rather handsome, spirited, well filled paper, eight columns big. It is a credit to the enterprising town in which it is located, and will help to let the world and the rest of mankind know that Lectonia and its Reporter are both live nouns This makes about a round dozen papers in that county.

Large numbers of country people were in town last Saturday, which must have made business good in may of the public places

Mr. Philip Smith, of the firm of Smith, Bowman & Co., of this place, has sent to this office the largest apple of the season, that we have seen. It weighs eighteen ounces, and measures nearly fourteen inches in circumference. Mr. S. grew this great specimen on his premises, and may well challenge rivalry. We have a decided partiality for that sort of visitors, but if they come about these premises there is a possibility of them being frost bitten.

Mr. Way, the somewhat noted Alliance man, was called for on Christmas day by the sheriff of Portage county. This official soon found that his subject made way with himself so effectually that he has not been visible at Alliance since.

Messrs Christy, of Atwater, Portage county, are doing a good thing. They have many hundreds of sugar maple seedlings, from three to ten feet high, ready to be transplanted. Everybody who has a spare foot of land should plant some of these trees—they will soon be worth money.

Last Week the Miller dramatic troupe occupied the Opera House every evening, and on Monday night of this week. Their stay is evidence that they gave their patrons satisfaction, though they brought out nothing new until the last night, when Oliver Twist was presented,

On Tuesday evening Wagner's Minstrels gave an entertainment, in which burnt cork was a prominent feature. They produced the usual amount of fun we suppose, as that is their business.

Erie street is being treated to another layer of furnace cinder, which will tend to keep it dry at all times. Mill street is pretty well provided for in this way.

Take It to Your Home.—It is so much the fashion nowadays to convey information and moral truths and sentiments in the form of stories, that even some popular lecturers have adopted this style of address. The mass of people, especially the young, demand stories to such a degree, that papers filled with sensational novels and exciting, trashy stuff, have a wide circulation. To forestall this taste, and supply something better to the masses, the publishers of Hearth and Home, in addition to the usual variety of that paper, have engaged a corps of first-class writers, among whom are Jean Ingelow, Edward Eggleston, Mary E. Dodge, Louisa M. Alcott, Edward Everitt Hale, Elizebeth Stuart Phelps, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Rose Terry, Maria R. Oakey, Lucia G. Runkle, and many others, who furnish to this journal the best Original Stories, of the purest character and highest grade—thus conveying much instruction in a pleasing form. Beside these, the weekly Hearth and Home contains a large amount of first-class reading, editorials, literature, art, science, amusement; instruction for the house-keeper, the gardener, the farmer; a capital department for children and youth; news of the day; financial and market reports, &c. Its engravings, costing over $25,000 a year, are of a high order of merit, unsurpassed by any illustrated paper in the world. Altogether, Hearth and Home is such a journal as may be safely and very profitably taken into any family. It is supplied at the low rate of $3 a year; four copies $11, and ten or more copies for $2,75 each. Orange Judd & Co., publishers, 245 Broadway, New-York City.

Our Boys for January is at hand, and is none the worse for the Great Fire; on the contrary, it is enlarged to 16 pages, or forty-eight columns. It contains very interesting serials, sketches, &c., and is truly the American Boys' Own Journal. Illustrated. No boy should be without it. Only 50 cents a year. Monthly. Specimen copy sent for stamp. Agents wanted. Address Our Boys, Chicago, Ill.

DIED—At the residence of J. F Setterlin, in this city, on Monday, Jan. 8, Mrs. Sabina Hershey, wife of John Hershey, aged 57 years.

Progress of the Revolution.—A new light dawned upon the world with the introduction of Plantation Bitters twelve years ago. Drastic purgation went out—restoration and renovation came in. The eyes of the people were opened to the great fact that the way to cure disease is to strengthen and support its victims, not to place them at its mercy by depriving them of the little strength they have. It soon became evident that as a means of infusing vitality into the feeble system, regulating the secretions, curing indigestion, and reforming a bilious habit of body, no medicinal preparation then known was at all comparable to the new restorative. Since then hundreds of attempts have been made to rival the Bitters. They have all failed, and the grand revolution in medical treatment which was commenced in 1860, is still in progress. Nothing can stop it, for it is founded on the principle, now universally recognized, that physical vigor is the most formidable antagonist of human ailments, and experience has shown that Plantation Bitters is a peerless invigorant, as well as the best possible safeguard against epidemic disease.

Remove the cause—Costiveness, which produces serious and often fatal diseases, is removed by the use of Dr. Henry's Root and plant pills. See advertisement. 444-4w

To those who are bowed down by nervous debility, and despair of ever recovering the vigor and mien of manhood we earnestly recommend Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters. Before they have finished the first bottle, they will feel the restorative principle at work in every portion of their broken down systems and hope will spring up in their hearts. No case of dyspepsia, intermittent fever, or kidney diseases, can resist this unequalled vegetable tonic which is unpolluted by any distilled or fermented liquor. 444 4w

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

Must it not be very romantic to be on your knees before one of Eve's fair daughters, heaving up a torrent of sweet words between her glowing, parted lips, raising roses on her cheek by the acre, bringing tears of pleasure to her eyes, and at the critical moment when she is going to swoon away in your arms, to hear her anxious mother cry, 'You, Sal, have you fed them 'ere hogs?'

A gentleman travelling in Tennessee, just after the close of the war, overheard the following conversation between two women of that country, who had been in town and were returning home on the cars: 1st—What has you in that paper? 2d—Soda. 1st—Soda? what's soda? 2d—Why, don't you know what soda is? that 'ere stuff what you puts in biskits that makes em git up and hump themselves.

Florence, the comedian, tells a story of a waiter at one of the London taverns who was sadly given to drink. A party of young men determined to reform him, and one day read an imaginary paragraph from the paper relating a terrible accident, in which an inebriate, in blowing out a candle, was killed by the flame igniting with the fumes of his breath. Jerry picked up his ears at this, and requested that the paragraph might be read to him again, which was done, to the evident horror of the poor man, who immediately went in search of the cook to borrow a prayer book. Returning with this, he expressed a desire to take a solemn oath upon it, bemoaned the fact that he had been a sorry tippler and was bringing himself to ruin, and then swore that never again, so long as he lived, would he—attempt to blow out a candle!

AMERICAN WASHER!

PRICE, $5.50.

The American Washer saves Money, Time, and Drudgery.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no longer dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting. It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a quilt to a lace curtain or cambric handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the Little Gem! It can be fastened to any tub and taken off at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once become fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper, and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this great labor saver, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly. Sole agents for the United States,

THE IMPROVED AMERICAN:

Button-Hole, Overseaming,

—AND—

Complete Sewing Machine.

The first and only Button-hole and Sewing machine combined that has made its advent in this or any other country.

☞The following reasons are given why this is the best

Family Machine to Purchase

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, sewing from the finest to the coarsest material, hemming, felling, cording, braiding, binding, gathering and sewing on at the same time, ruffling, quilting, &c, better than any other machine.
2. Because the tensions are more easily adjusted than any other machine.
3. Because it can make a beautiful button hole, making as fine a pearl as by hand.
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment.
5. Because it will make a beautiful eyelet hole
6. Because it can do overhand seaming, by which sheets, pillow cases, and the like are sewed over and over.
7. Because you can quickly raise or lower the feed to adapt it to thick or thin cloth.
8. Because you have a short drop bobbin by which the thread is constantly drawn from the center; the tension is consequently even and does not break the thread.
9. Because the presser foot turns back; that the cloth can be easily removed after being sewed.
10. Because the best mechanics pronounce it the best finished and made on the best principle of any machine manufactured.
11. Because it has a better shuttle than any other machine.
12. Because it runs easier and quicker than any other heavy machine.
13. Because it is two machines in one—a button hole working and sewing machine combined.

It is to last a lifetime, and therefore one is wanted that will do the most work, and do it the best, and this machine can do several kinds of sewing not done on any other machine, besides doing every kind that all others can do.

The American or Plain Sewing Machine

Is a beautiful family and light manufacturing machine, possessing all the superior qualities of the combined machine, except making button holes and overseaming. In all other respects the principal of construction is the same.

These Machines are Warranted.

Asks attention to many special offerings in the Dry Goods line that will be sold

Strictly for Cash,

at the closest possible discount. The losses through misplaced confidence, to any merchant doing a credit business, are numerous, and corrupts the integrity and solvency of an establishment, as protective tariffs operate as contagious disease impoverishes the body physical. 412tf

DR. AUGUSTUS SLEE

Treats all private diseases with great success. Spermatorrhœa, or seminal weakness and impotency, caused by selfabuse, etc—producing General Debility of the body, Indigestion, want of proper Manliness, Loss of Memory, Indolence; reducing the System so as to render Marriage unadvisable—Permently Cured

Long standing constitutional disease skillfully treated and cured.

Effects of Mercury Eradiated.

The doctor gives particular attention to Female complaints. Sterility, Ammenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, and all such diseases, causing annoyance and interfering with the general health and enjoyment of life, invariably removed.

Send for the doctor's medical pamphlet, treatire, in plain language, on venereal diseases, enabling the afflicted to understand their own complaints. Free at office or sent securely sealed, for six cents.

Ample accomodations for patients from a distance at the house.

Office hours from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M., Sundays excepted. All communications to be addressed DR. AUGUSTUS SLEE, 264 Penn street, Pittsburg, Pa.

DR. WHITTIER

296 Penn St. Pitteburg, Pa

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, AS DIPLOMA at office will show, has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Sexual and Private Diseases than any other physician in Pittsburgh.

Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia or Rupture; all Urinary Diseases and Syphilitic or Mercurial Affections of the Throat, Skin or Bones are treated with unparalleled success.

Spermatorrhœa, Sexual Debility and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excesses in maturer years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured. Sealed pamphlet relating to above sent for five stamps. Call or write, a friendly talk costs nothing. Medicine sent everywhere. It is self evident that a physician who treats thousands of cases every year acquires skill. Country physicians knowing this frequently recommend persons to my care.

MANHOOD! WOMANHOOD!

Who may Marry, who not, why. Send 25 cents. Pellsymptoms Chronic Diseases, 100 pages securely sealed. Address, Dr. WHITTIER, 295 Penn Street, Pittsburg, Pa. Ignorance kills more than war and pestilence combined.

ON MARRIAGE.

Essays for young men, on great Social Evils and Abuses, which interfere with Marriage—with sure means of relief for the Erring and Unfortunate, diseased and debilitated. Sent free in sealed envelopes. Address HOWARD ASSOCIATION, No. 2, S. Ninth, Philadelphia, Pa. 412—1y
